Sharing our love for American fried chicken with an Asian twist. Our very own interpretation of the recipe presents the succulent meat in a crunchy caramelised crust with a rich infusion of local herbs and spices. The flavour lingers on both the batter and the meat within, and every bite releases the oozing juice from the overnight brined chicken. If flavoursome is not your thing, a milder yet savoury blend is available uniquely with the wings

#FRIEDCHICKEN

Brining is typically a process in which meat is soaked in a salt water solution similar to marination before cooking. Meat is submerged in our signature house-brine for at least 12-hours. The process infuses our choice of Asian herbs and spices into the meat, extending its flavour profile deep within. The result is a juicy and savoury burst in every bite.

Every piece of fried chicken is hand-battered and fry-to-order.
